

Information & Consent

We will ask for your consent to collect personal and sensitive information about you.

Personal and sensitive information can include your name, your contact details, your health and your religion or culture.

We will collect this information from you or people and providers you consent to.

We use personal information about you to deliver services or information.

We also use it to improve our services and to follow legal requirements.

We only give your information to workers who are involved in your services and people or providers you consent to (for example your doctor).

We will keep your information for as long as the law says we must. After that, we will destroy it safely.

If you are unhappy about how we have handled your information, there are several avenues to submit a complaint which we would be happy to assist you with.

You can tell us if you change your mind on any areas of consent.
